Votes For School Bonds.

It behooves every white voter in the Lancaster Graded School District, to consider the situation calmly and dispassionately before voting on next Saturday. The peace, happiness, growth and prosperity of any community depends upon its schools. It has been truly said that, if we would keep people from crime, we must educate them, and the truth of the assertion is made manifest when we consider the fact that a large majority of criminals are illiterate.

It is conceded that our agricultural facilities and natural resources are equal to those of Boyle and Madison counties. Then why have their cities grown to three times the population of Lancaster? Their schools have contributed more largely to that end than any other cause. Population increases demand for property and, consequently values are enhanced, a larger revenue being derived from a given rate of assessment. Ignoring the primary reason for education, the welfare of the people, if I had property worth $100,000 in this community, and had no children or relatives, I would vote for the bonds, believing that my property would become more valuable because of increased demand, brought about by better educational facilities.

It is said that the building now occupied is not ventilated, heated or constructed so as to give satisfactory results, and the trustees claim that the different sources of revenue will enable them to pay the bonds without increasing the tax rate. This, they claim will certainly be true when all the Leavel fund is available.

The school is the nursery from which social and civic life is formed, and a community will be weak or strong, physically or mentally, only as the young trees are weak or strong. Those who favor the bonds should be sure to vote, as overconfidence has lost many battles.

I suggest that the building be dedicated and inscribed to the memory of L. Y. Leavel, the man who made it possible to construct and maintain such a school.

Observer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Oakes are receiving congratulations over the arrival of twin babies at their home. They have been named Raymond and Elizabeth.

Women To Vote In Kentucky.

For the first time in Kentucky will be witnessed the spectacle of women voting in a regular county election at the regular election in 1912. If the generally accepted construction placed upon the recently enacted School Law be correct, all women who can read and write and who possess the necessary qualifications as required of male voters, may exercise the right of suffrage in the race for School Superintendent. Separate ballots will be provided bearing the names of the various candidates for this office, but the same officers will conduct the election for this office as preside at the general election. The ladies will be permitted to use the same booths as the men when casting their ballots. In the future the women will become a factor in politics in Kentucky, at least so far as one office is concerned and it is thought that the change will have a tendency to divorce the office of School Superintendent from politics.

Williams.

There died at Burgin on the 26th, last a splendid old gentleman who during the greater part of a long and useful life was a resident of Garrard county. Mr. O. S. Williams. Mr. Williams' death was due to heart disease, and was a sad shock to his family and friends as up to a few days previous to his death he had been enjoying his usual health, which was remarkably good for one of his years, he being 82 years of age. Mr. Williams during recent years had made his home in Burgin but the most of his life had been spent in the lower part of Garrard county. He had long been a devoted and faithful member of the Methodist church, and funeral services were conducted at the church by his pastor, Rev. J. W. Simpson, after which his remains were interred in the Burgin cemetery. Mr. Williams' good wife has long since preceded him to the grave. He is survived by four sons, R. E. Williams of Clarendon Tex., T. A. Williams of Haskell Tex., H. D. Williams of Burgin Ky. and J. C. Williams of Bryantville, the latter being the popular cashier of the Bank of Bryantville.

Seven Kentuckians In The United States Senate.

Seven native born Kentuckians occupy seats in the United States Senate, and besides this number there is Congressman Ollie M. James, who is a Senator-elect. No state in the Union can boast of as great a number of her sons in that august body. Mississippi coming next with five.

Besides our own senators William O. Bradley and Thomas H. Paynter, there is Senator Shelby M. Culom of Illinois, who was born in Wayne county Ky. Senator William J. Stone of Missouri, who first saw the light of day in Madison county Ky. Joseph L. Bristow of Kansas, born in a cabin beneath the towering hills of Wolfe county Ky. and the two newly elected senators from our recently added states, Senator Mark A. Smith of Arizona, who hails from Cynthia and Senator Albert A. Fall of New Mexico, a product of Frankfort Ky.

Sensor Bradley will in the near future entertain this coterie of United States senators who can claim the same native state at a dinner, the viands served upon that occasion to be Kentucky grown. It is said that that Congressman Ollie M. James will also grace the board upon this occasion, which will mark the renewal of the old time friendly relations between him and senator Bradley, which were interrupted by a misunderstanding during the recent O'Rear-McCreary campaign.

Judge Walker Complimented.

The Danville Messenger has the following to say of Judge Lewis L. Walker who spoke there Monday night:—

An evidence of the popularity of Judge Lewis L. Walker was given last night when one of the largest and most intelligent audiences seen at a recent political speaking greeted him at the court house. Judge Walker came to make a speech for President Taft, but the political coloring of his talk didn't prevent many of our best citizens, both Republicans and Democrats from going to hear him.

Judge Walker, while he is a young man, is one of the best posted politicians and brilliant lawyers in Kentucky. He has a good voice, is of commanding appearance, and can bring out a point with as much force as speakers who have spent many years before audiences. He likewise has the happy faculty of seeing the ridiculous side of a question, and many times last night were his hearers convulsed with laughter.

We cannot see how any of our republican brethren, after listening to the talk last night, can follow the cold trail for Teddy. As Judge Walker said, Mr. Roosevelt is a chronic office seeker, and seeks after notoriety, and it does seem that he has been given enough of this by the people of the United States. At the conclusion of his speech, Judge Walker was highly complimented, many of his Democratic friends being among the number to shake his hand. It is some pleasure to listen to a political speech free from vilification and misrepresentation, and that was the character of the speech of last night.

Lively Interest

Being Shown In The Great Piano Contest.

Many New Entries And Old Ones Are Working Vigorously.

Whoever wins the various prizes offered in the contest now in progress is surely going to have a run for their money. New contestants are entering the race and the old ones are developing additional strength as the contest progresses. Too early in the action for any one contestant to get first place and keep it, for they can never tell what a week will develop, they can only keep diligently trying and never allow their interest to flag or become discouraged because some one happens to pass them in the weeks count, for the next count may place them in the lead. Friends of the various candidates are beginning to get warmed up and are working for the interest of their favorite.

Lots of time for new entries, send in your nomination and a week of perseverance will place her in the lead.

There is an impression in the minds of some people that there is but one piano to be given away. This is erroneous, there is positively TWO. Contests, one in the Bryantville section and one in Lancaster, and TWO PIANOS, one for the successful contestant in each district, one of the instruments is now on exhibition at the store of Mr. R. S. Brown, and another on hand at Becker Ballard & Co. where all are cordially invited to call and inspect it.

Following is the status of the contestants at the last official count:—

Mr Farmer

Don't you think it would be a good idea to sow some Millet, Cane or Cow Peas for early feeding? We carry a full stock of all, as well as several qualities of hay that we can furnish at all times. - Phone 26, Hudson & Hughes.

Demorest To Be Here Fair Week.

Hugh M. Miller, contracting agent for the Demorest Comedy Co. was here this week and arranged for the troupe which he represents to play in Lancaster during the week of the Fair. This is a splendid company and always plays to large business in Lancaster.

Transylvania Presbytery will meet in the Lancaster Presbyterian church next Tuesday night April 9th. The Rev. J. Russell Crawford of Columbia will preach the opening sermon at 7:30 p. m. On Wednesday evening the Rev. Harvey S. Murdock will make an address on the Mountain Mission work of Kentucky. Everybody cordially invited.

Card Of Thanks.

Because of our inability to extend personally our thanks to each and everyone of our host of friends both in Lancaster, Ky., and LaPryor, Texas who were so kind to us in our recent affliction, we take this method of assuring them of our heartfelt gratitude for the many kindly words and acts which tended to make our burden of sorrow a little less hard to bear.
